Additional Service Providers

We may use other third-party services that store data in various locations including:

- United States: Analytics platforms, customer support tools, marketing automation
- European Union: Compliance monitoring, backup services
- Other regions: As disclosed in our Privacy Policy or through separate notice

Data Transfer Mechanisms

When your personal data is transferred outside the European Economic Area (EEA), we ensure appropriate safeguards are in place:

- Standard Contractual Clauses (SCCs): EU-approved contract terms that provide adequate protection
- Adequacy Decisions: Transfers to countries deemed adequate by the European Commission

- Binding Corporate Rules: Internal policies approved by data protection authorities
- Explicit Consent: Where legally required and obtained

Your Rights Regarding Data Location

Under GDPR, you have the right to:

- Know where your personal data is stored and processed
- Request that your data processing be restricted to specific locations (where technically feasible)
- Object to processing in certain locations
- Request data portability
- Access, rectify, or delete your personal data regardless of storage location

Data Residency Requests

If you require your data to be stored in a specific geographic location due to regulatory requirements or business needs, please contact us at security@cfo.ai. We will assess the feasibility of accommodating such requests on a case-by-case basis.

Security Across All Locations

Regardless of storage location, all personal data is protected by:

- Industry-standard encryption (AES-256)
- Multi-factor authentication
- Regular security assessments and penetration testing
- 24/7 monitoring and incident response
- Compliance with applicable local data protection laws

Changes to Storage Locations

We may change our data storage locations from time to time. When significant changes occur that may affect your rights, we will:

- Update this page with the new information

- Notify affected customers via email or account notifications
- Provide at least 30 days' notice where required by law
